

Coco disposal guide

March 13, 2017

Coco is electronic device that contains LiPo battery and other electronic parts. It should be recycled by returning it to collection point dedicated for electronic waste.

If the Coco is mounted to a package using screws please remove the Coco for recycling by removing the screws (4 pcs).

Please see the following picture to identify the device and the location of screws.

Always return your used electronic products, batteries, and packaging materials to a dedicated collection point. This way you help prevent uncontrolled waste disposal and promote the recycling of materials. Batteries can contain mercury, lead or cadmium – substances that are harmful to our health and our environment. More detailed information is available from the product retailer, local waste authorities or your national producer responsibility organization.

The crossed-out wheeled-bin symbol on your product, battery, literature, or packaging reminds you that all electrical and electronic products and batteries must be taken to separate collection at the end of their working life. Do not dispose of these products as unsorted municipal waste: take them for recycling.
